Executive Proclamation

Office Of The Governor

WHEREAS, Since coming into this world via Minneapolis back in 1943, Doctor Thomas C. White has been a very busy man; and,

WHEREAS, His desk now, like his bedroom as a boy, is an inordinate mess, yet Tom always seems to know where to find things. For example, even as a highly skilled and overly worked opthalmologic surgeon, Tom still finds time for many relaxing hobbies; and,

WHEREAS, Tom is truly a Renaissance man. In college, he was a professional puppeteer. Today he is an amateur photographer, he plays piano, he loves to figure skate, and he plays croquette. What is more, he loves music, fishing, sailing, and a good cigar; and,

WHEREAS, Intellectually, he is no slouch, either. In addition to all his extracurricular activities in school, he had the determination and smarts to be named Phi Beta Kappa, and he is also a member of MENSA, an exclusive organization restricted to the top two percent of I.Q. in the nation; and,

WHEREAS, One would think that all this success would make the man unbearably proud. On the contrary--Tom's friends concede that success had nothing to do with his superciliousness; and,

WHEREAS, Seriously though, Dr. White should be coddled, and not criticized, on this, his fortieth birthday. His wife feels that forty is distinguished, brother Bruce cannot imagine being that old, and Tom's 90-year-old grandfather thinks he is just a young whippersnapper; and,

WHEREAS, No matter how you see Dr. Thomas C. White, it should be noted on this momentous day, there are many people SEEING the Doctor and the beautiful world around us because of his meticulous work as an opthalmologic surgeon in Sioux Falls:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim March 13, 1983, as

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Ninth Day of March, In the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Three
